Social Security Benefits In Coffee Pay $116,260.00

Changes In Law
Boosts Benefits To
11.5% In County

Monthly old-age survivors, and disability insurance benefits in Coffee County topped $116,260.00, Harry N. Scott, District Manager of social security in Dothan, said today on releasing his annual county benefit date report.

The new monthly figure represents an increase of 11.5 percent over the corresponding period last year.

"This increase can be attributed to the changes in the law in recent years, as well as to the growth of our aged population," Scott said. "This money stimulates county business, most of it is spent for food, clothing, and shelter."

"There is no longer any doubt, Social security benefits are helping to stabilize the income and spending power of many residents in Coffee County,"

Monthly benefits first became payable in January 1940, and they have continued without interruption for 23 years, accompanied by a steady growth in the number of beneficiaries. Scott noted that as of December 31, 1962, some 2,437 people were collecting about $1,395,120.00 annually from social security, an increase of 12.5 percent over 1961.

He said more people in Coffee County could draw social security benefits if they knew more about the law, and for that reason they are urged to visit or call the local social security office whenever they have a question concerning their benefits or responsibilities.

As of January 1963, in the nation at large, more than 18 million beneficiaries were receiving payments at the rate of $14.4 billion per month.

The average monthly old-age retirement benefits in January was $76.19 for all States, while in the State of Alabama the average was $64.86, Scott said.

The following table shows the number and amount of each type of monthly benefit paid in Coffee County, as of December 31, 1962:

Retired worker, 1,134,	$65,496.00.
Wife or husband, 425,	$11,643.00.
Widow or widower, 197,	$10,221.00.
Mothers and children, 486,	$18,371.00.
Disabled workers and dependents, 185,	$10,005.00.
Parents, 10,	$524.00.
Total, 2,437, amounting to	$116,260.00.

State Draft Boards Select Registrants From Classifications

(The Draft has been extended for four years, until July 1, 1967. This means that the young men of the country must continue to expect to serve in the military forces. This series of articles, prepared by State Headquarters and distributed under the direction of State Selective Service Director Ralph W. Adams, outlines the basic responsibilities and rights of young men under the draft law.)
.....

State Director Ralph W. Adams has explained that there are five general classes with numerous subdivisions which local boards use to indicate whether a man is available, deferred, or exempt - and why.

"Every man is considered as available for induction, in Class I-A, until his eligibility for some other classification is established to the satisfaction of the local board," Adams said.

If a registrant does not establish his eligibility for deferment or exemption because of hardship, occupation, study, Reserve or National Guard membership, or other reason, he is placed in Class I-A. In the normal case, a registrant in Class I-A will be ordered for an Armed Forces examination shortly before his time to enter service, to determine whether he is qualified physically, mentally, and morally. If he is not qualified, he is deferred in Class IV-F or Class I-Y. If qualified, he is kept in Class I-A until he is reached for induction. Class I-Y means that the registrant is not qualified under current standards, but would be qualified in a war or emergency. Class IV-F means he is not qualified for any military service.

All registrants in Class I-A are divided into categories in an order of priority for induction.

Local Boards in meeting their quotas first summon men who have been declared delinquent for failure to comply with the draft law. Next to be taken are men who volunteer for induction. Then the local boards complete their monthly quota by calling Class I-A qualified men between ages 19 and 26. They are called in the order of their dates of birth, oldest first. The present average age of call is about 23. This "average age" depends on how many men go in service. In heavy mobilization, it falls.

Most available men are in this category and it is sufficiently large to meet the needs of the Armed Services under present conditions.

If this category were exhausted, local boards would next call men over 26, youngest first, and finally, men 18 1/2 to 19, oldest first.

VA ANNOUNCES IMMEDIATE FULFILLMENT OF DIRECT LOANS

Veterans in those areas of Alabama where private financing for GI home loans is not available were advised today that the Veterans Administration now has funds available to permit immediate fulfillment of applications for direct loans from the VA.

Until recently, eligible Alabama veterans had to face long delays in obtaining direct loans because the special funds for the program were insufficient to handle the large number of applications. C. A. Harris, Loan Guaranty Officer at the VA Regional Office in Montgomery, explained.

In recent months the VA has sold large blocks of direct loan mortgages to private sources.

INDUSTRY DAYS

The week of April 29 - May 5 has been officially proclaimed by Governor Wallace as "Alabama Industry Days," the theme being "What Alabama Makes... Makes Alabama."

This annual salute to Alabama's industrial progress is promoted statewide by:

Alabama Press Association, Alabama Broadcasters Association, Alabama Junior Chamber of Commerce, State Planning & Industrial Development Board, University of Alabama, Auburn University, Associated Industries of Alabama.

The objective is to spotlight the importance of private industry to the local community, to the state, and to the economic welfare of all citizens of Alabama.

Alabamians grew and ate more food in 1962 than ever before, and a large part of what they ate was processed, preserved, canned or frozen right here in the state.

Alabama Industry Days this week is saluting nearly 20,000 people employed in the food processing industry.

Within its borders Alabama boasts canneries, dairies, corn meal, grits and flour mills, soft drink bottling plants, egg processors, peanut roasters, shellers, and preserves, pecan shellers and canners. Food processors, canners and freezers, candy makers, and makers of spices, jams, jellies, preserves and flavoring extracts.

The largest of these, in terms of number of establishments, is bottled and canned soft drinks, with 162 plants. Next are meat processors, who have 87 plants, and some 5,000 employees, the largest number engaged in any one segment of food processing.

Dairy products is near the top with 79 plants, 30 of them producers of fluid milk. There are 13 canned and frozen food plants (five engaged in making pickles and sauces); 74 grain mill product plants; 53 establishments making bread and related products; 17 candy makers; 13 cotton seed oil mills; and 72 ice plants.

The annual payroll for all employees in this industry is over $78 million, an increase over previous years, though the employment figure in the industry has gradually declined.

Production workers alone in this field number just over 11,000 and account for over $38 million of the annual payroll.

It is estimated that food processors last year put over $11 million into new capital equipment. The value added by manufacturing in the food processing industry has risen sharply over the past few years until 1961, the latest reported figures, when it remained at the 1960 level.

Value added by manufacturing in 1958 was $132 million, and in 1960 and 1961, $178 million.

In addition to employing the most workers - 5,000 - the meat processors also paid out the largest amount in wages. The next largest employer was dairy products, with 3,469, and the third largest bread and related products, with 3,380.

Farm Briefs

Farmers in the U. S. harvested about 300 million acres last year. This is 1.4 per cent less than 1961.

In a recent study of 142 fatal tractor accidents in Ohio, only eight indicated mechanical failure. Human failure caused the rest, reports the National Safety Council.

Out of 2,260 rural communities in the continental U. S., about 800 are considered serious low-income areas.

Poultry breeders are trying to develop auto-sexing strains to identify one-day old male and female chicks. This would eliminate sexing chicks at the time of hatching.

The average person in this country eats about 53 pounds of citrus fruit each year.

GAIL DONALDSON, Elba High School, Elba, Alabama, has been nominated for the annual Achievement Awards program, sponsored by the National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE).

For the sixth year, the Council is conducting the Awards program throughout the nation to grant recognition to outstanding high school seniors for excellence in English. The writing abilities and literary awareness of each nominee will be judged by local and state committees. NCTE will announce the finalists at its annual Thanksgiving convention, and will send their names to every U.S. college and university with the recommendation that these students be considered for scholarship assistance.

Colleges and universities welcome the announcements of these superior students in English each year and honor the recognition extended to them. According to a survey just completed by the Achievement Awards program, 86% of the institutions polled take into consideration the award announcement when inviting, accepting, and recommending program finalists for scholarship aid.

Reports of finalists from previous years show that 99% of them attend colleges of their choice and more than 70% of the total students honored receive scholarship aid.

According to James R. Squire, executive secretary of NCTE, the Achievement Awards competition is part of a comprehensive program undertaken by American teachers of English from the primary to the graduate school to develop verbal competence. The Council, through its periodicals, books, and committee reports seeks to improve the teaching of English at all levels. Currently, the Council's membership is over 78,000.

Founded in 1911, the NCTE is a professional, nonprofit organization of teachers of English at all levels. Currently, the Council's membership is over 78,000.

FLIES COULD INHERIT EARTH IN 5 MONTHS CLAIMS PEST EXPERT

Flies could inherit the earth in five months if nature - and man would leave them alone.

A single pair of flies, if they began this month, could produce enough flies to cover the earth in five months if nature - and man would leave them alone.

"Fortunately," says Auburn University pest expert Roy Ledbetter, "diseases, other insects, birds, weather and control methods take their toll of flies each year. This way, the exploding population is reduced. Yet there are still enough flies left to still plenty of misery."

Getting rid of their breeding places and following sanitation practices are the only ways to stop flies, says Ledbetter, an Extension Service entomologist. "By removing all trash, garbage and other organic refuse, then applying an insecticide, the amazing growth of these disease-carrying pests can be halted," he explains.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician and a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

WOMEN DOCTORS

In the Soviet Union a lot of people have never seen a male physician, and in this country a good many people have never seen a woman doctor.

In the Soviet Union 75 per cent of physicians are women, while in the United States only 6 per cent of physicians are women. Six per cent seems disproportionately low, according to Marion Fay, Ph.D., president and dean of the Women's Medical College of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia.

Dr. Fay is concerned about the small number of women in this country who are studying medicine. Over a period of 38 years, Dr. Fay explains, the percentage of women students in our medical schools are varied from a low in 1910 of four to a high of nine and one-half in 1948.

Dr. Fay asks, "Is this because of lack of opportunity for women, professional prejudice against admitting female students, or absence of interest among women themselves?" Apparently, there is little prejudice among admission committees as borne out by the fact that in 1960 - 61 better than one in two women applicants were accepted by medical schools.

Dr. Fay thinks high school age is the best time for planning pre-professional courses and that the field of medicine should be attractive to young women.

Dr. Fay feels that she must realize her responsibility to encourage women to study medicine.

ROCK BRIDGE CANYON

Natural creations seem to hold the greatest fascination and interest of travelers in all States and Alabama is blessed with an abundance of such creations. Rock Bridge Canyon, located at Hodges, Alabama, is certainly one of our most outstanding, known as "Alabama's Limestone Rock," this is truly one of the world's most beautiful natural settings. The visitor to this wonderland will find 14 acres just as nature left them with man-made trails for convenient access to the many points of interest, including over 40 species of fern, Mountain Laurel, Hydrangea, Magnolia, Chestnut, Holly and hundreds more. During this particular time of the year they are all breathtakingly beautiful.

Aside from the floral sights you will certainly marvel at the major rock

FLIES COULD INHERIT EARTH IN 5 MONTHS CLAIMS PEST EXPERT

Flies could inherit the earth in five months if nature - and man would leave them alone.

A single pair of flies, if they began this month, could produce enough flies by August to cover the whole earth about 47 feet deep.

"Fortunately," says Auburn University pest expert Roy Ledbetter, "diseases, other insects, birds, weather and control methods take their toll of flies each year. This way, the exploding population is reduced. Yet there are still enough flies left to deal with the misery."

Getting rid of their breeding places and following sanitation practices are the only ways to stop flies, says Ledbetter, an Extension Service entomologist. "By removing all trash, garbage and other organic refuse, then applying an insecticide, the amazing growth of these disease-carrying pests can be halted," he explains.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of The Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

WOMEN DOCTORS

In the Soviet Union a lot of people have never seen a male physician, while in the United States only 6 per cent of physicians are women. Six per cent seems disproportionately low, according to Marion Fay, PhD, president and dean of the Women's Medical College of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia.

Dr. Fay is concerned about the small number of women in this country who are studying medicine.

Over a period of 38 years, Dr. Fay explains, the percentage of women students in our medical schools are varied from a low in 1910 of four to a high of nine and one-half in 1948.

Dr. Fay asks, "Is this because of lack of opportunity for women, prejudice against admitting female students, or absence of interest among women themselves?" Apparently, there is little prejudice among admission committees as borne out by the fact that in 1960 - 61 better than one in two women applicants were accepted by medical schools.

Dr. Fay thinks high school age is the best time for planning pre-professional courses and that the field of medicine should be attractively presented along with other possible careers.

If a girl is accepted for medical school, Dr. Fay feels that she must realize her responsibility to enlist for the duration. The medical school also has responsibilities which include financial aid, advice, counseling, and help on personal problems. The woman student must be shown that it is possible to combine matrimony and medicine sensibly and realistically.

RAMBLING ROSES AND FLYING BRICKS

Can Y'all Tell Me How Von Braun Gonna Find Moon?

BY EARL TUCKER, THOMASVILLE, ALABAMA

All I know is what I hear around the hospital and pick up on daytime television, and if there is much to hear I don't look at the television. Most of the daytime shows are about some folks being in love who shouldn't be and I'll be out of the hospital by the time they get caught. But I did tune in on a pretty good program early in the morning yesterday and this fellow was talking about some sort of population explosion along about 1970 and again in 1990. He was right worried about the thing. He said the trouble is that we're having too many births and not enough deaths. People used to die quicker than they do now. This speaker they heard about it. They have to sort of line up out in the hall to get in and, all the time, they're talking about how this baby doctor saved their child's life. Judging from the conversation I hear, he must have saved half the people in Mobile in the past fifty years, and he must take some of the blame for there being too many people. The next time you get tied up in a traffic jam you can blame it on him.

Some people, like Dr. Werner Von Braun at the missile center in Huntsville, are also worried about how we will eventually have to have a lot more places to put a lot more people and he's trying to do something about it. He says we will be able to put a man on the moon and bring him back within the next seven or so years. Actually, though, this moon trip isn't going to open up any new living territory for us, because they say that the moon has no gravitation belt around it. In other words, if you put something on it, it doesn't stay where you put it, which is sort of like leaving the keys in your car when you park.

Everybody talks about how smart Dr. Von Braun is, but he didn't impress me as being too brilliant. I had an opportunity to chat with him about ten minutes, and just to show you what gave me my impression, here is the gist of our conversation:

Von Braun: "Where are you from, Mr. Tucker?"
Me: "I'm from Thomasville, Alabama. Have you ever heard of it?"
Von Braun: "No, I haven't."

The way I figure the thing, how is he going to find the moon, when he doesn't even know where Thomasville is?

CEMETERY WORKING
There will be a cemetery working at Chestnut Grove Saturday A.M., May 4. Everyone is invited to come early and bring tools to work with.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR:
The Elba Clipper
Elba, Alabama
Dear Editor,

So often we forget to say thank you for things that make our city more beautiful. For one, would like to commend the Garden Club, the city officials, the Street Department and others who helped in planting the roses on the cemetery fence. Every one should ride up that way and see them now while they are so beautiful. The cemetery is so well kept and it is so beautiful around the place where our loved ones are. Again, I would say, "Thank You."

The annual Brunson Reunion was held Sunday, April 21, at the picnic grounds at the Fox H. Brunson Farm, Elba.

THROUGH THE KEYHOLE

BY MRS. ROBERT CANNON

VISITING here over the past few days were Captain and Mrs. Wade Williams, of Charleston, South Carolina, and their two sons. They were house-guests of Betty and Walt Cox and spent several days with them before going on to Shevport, Louisiana.

In talking with Betty we learned that she and Walt, with Jean and Jack Vaughan, were planning on attending a hardware "show" in Atlanta, Georgia this past Tuesday and Wednesday. Atlanta is such a lovely city we envy them the chance to see it in its spring glory.

ALSO in town last Sunday were Martha Easters' parents, Doctor and Mrs. Capps, of Enterprise, who came over to be with the family on the day they all five joined the Methodist Church. The Easters have quickly become a part of our lives and we can't picture Elba without them now, and we are sure the local high school will agree one hundred percent with that sentiment.

OFF for a few delightful days in Birmingham were Betty and Oscar Vaughan, Jr., who attended the Bankers' Convention in that city. We are interested in hearing about all they did as the bankers are always entertained on such a lavish scale. We can imagine that the ladies' flowered spring hats must have been a sight to behold.

During Betty's absence, her mother, Mrs. Clyde Caldwell of Samson, came here to stay with Murray, Carol, and Vickie and the assorted horses, dogs and kittens that comprise the merry Vaughan household.

FORMER FRIENDS are always a joy to see and Ima Warfield an especially nice day in Abbeville last week when she visited former neighbors and long-time friends.

We enjoyed talking with Ima about Sara's weekend in Tusculossa which had been the purpose of our call to her. Sara had been invited to attend the Chi Omega sorority Little Sister Houseparty and we were anxious to learn her impressions. She reports that a wonderful time was had by all.

WE SHARED a pleasant time with Betty Dorsey over the telephone and caught up on the news of her family. She and Kimmie have just returned from a trip to Biloxi, Mississippi where they attended the Alabama Truckers' Convention. Kimmie, as the outgoing president, presided over the meetings but young David Benton Dorsey was the center of most of the attention we feel sure. Kimmie and her large eyes they look like Kate Greenaway illustrations.

DID you know that Katherine Dorsey has returned from her home in Kentucky with Pete and Dixie Dorsey but will be home before too long.

A NICE INTERLUDE in the week's routine was enjoyed by Lorene and Sam Sawyer when daughter, Lela Ann Dyess, of Huntsville, came home for a nice stay. Martin Dyess is in Chicago on business and thus afforded Lela Ann the opportunity to visit with all the family and Powell visited here over the weekend.

This award is presented to the most deserving senior. All the members of the band voted by secret ballot to choose this senior.

The Donald Bowdoin Memorial Trophy was presented to Fred Smith. To receive this award is one of the greatest honors that can be paid to an athlete by his fellow athletes and teachers. It is awarded on the basis of scholastic average, athletic ability and character. To conclude the program, Max Reeves, Angie Smith and Cheryl Clark entertained with a medley of popular songs.

Alabama Forestry Division Arrests Incendiary "Fire Bugs" In Investigations Of Alleged Violations In Southern Counties

STRANGE MOTIVES GIVEN FOR FIRES

THROUGHOUT STATE

State Conservation Director Claude D. Kelley revealed today that Forestry Division personnel recently obtained eight written confessions for wood's arson. Several other persons are "under investigation for illegally setting fires in Alabama," according to the conservation official.

The incendiary fires, set during the March and April firefights, apparently destroyed several thousand acres of Alabama timberlands, Kelly said six of the confessions had been arrested and were now on bond. Warrants have been issued for four others who voluntarily admitted setting the fires.

Kelley said two boys confessed to starting eight fires in Conecuh and Covington Counties and an elderly man admitted setting a 1150 acre woodland blaze in DeKalb County. He called the DeKalb burning "the largest known recent incendiary-type fire."

State Forester Jake Sauffer said warrants had been issued for three persons from the Cicerone area. The three alleged arsonists are charged with setting one or more small fires in Mobile County.

The veteran Forestry Division chief said two people in Chilton County and one in Coffee had confessed to actual or attempted incendiary fires.

Foresters are investigating suspected arson fires in St. Clair, DeKalb and Covington Counties. A string of some fifty unusual fires set in Chilton County are getting a close look, he said.

Stauffer observed that the Forestry Division "wishes to promote the industry through research, fire control, and management assistance to landowners. He added that "the investigative work had followed public demand for forest preservation."

He and Kelley praised local law enforcement personnel for their cooperation during the investigations. C. P. Attaway, Chief Fire Control Officer, defended incendiary fires as those "intentionally set by a person on the property of another without authority to do so."

He said fires started with "malice" are included in this type of fire. Attaway added that almost 200,000 acres of Alabama forests have been damaged by this year.

Most of the suspicious forest blazes were investigated by Foresters Charles H. Barnes and Arnold Leak. They stated that some of those who confessed gave no motives for their act. Some of the strange motives given included, "something to do," "get into some meanness," and "clear the right of way to find empty" drink bottles to sell.

Those who confessed to starting incendiaries ranged in age from 16 to 68.

Federal Payroll 8 Times Over '40

The number of federal civilian employees has more than doubled in the past 2 decades and the monthly payroll increased more than 8 times during the same period.

Figures released by the Tax Foundation show that in 1940, 1,128,000 workers were employed by the national government. This total grew to 2,049,000 in 1960, 2,272,000 in 1955 and to 2,484,000 in 1961.

Monthly payrolls jumped in this fashion from the $177 million total for October, 1940; $539 million monthly in 1949; $784 million in 1954 and $1.2 billion monthly in 1961.

The January, 1963 employee total was 2,462,262.
